COUNTY GENERALLY

HILLSBORO April 12 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

For several weeks past our farmers and mechanics have been toiling late and early putting in the [illegible] crop, and are getting along finely. The people generally are in good spirits, [illegible] a remunerative price for [illegible] this fall.

[illegible] never seems to be fully up to [illegible] and everybody seems to be running a party of their own When the Democrats put out their State ticket nobody could be found that would endorse the whole thing Then comes the so called Independents The people are willing to admit that the ticket is a fine one, but look for something better The [illegible] Convention sends out their "my best," which is generally met with up [illegible] Whether the Independent Dis[illegible] will satisfy the people or not is [illegible] The cry of the people for blood [illegible] by a sacrifice, which monopolies, Crusaders and Legislatures have found in the persons of Clerks and Sheriffs as substitutes for their own sins and this atonement is supposed to be, in this case, final and complete It's a wonder those victims did not shift to the shoulders of the Road Supervisors as is sometimes the case in times where the people demand a punishment

The school meetings, coming on the heels of the conventions were rather warm affairs in many School Districts. In Hillsboro two of the wealthiest farmers took a set-to at speech making, which so muddled the anti tax side that the tax boys got away with them It seems to be generally understood that the Grangers mean to have better school facilities in all their school districts than heretofore which is certainly one of the most praiseworthy aims of any society, and speaks louder than words for the organization

The new school bell for Hillsboro district, [illegible] by the citizens and weighing 340 pounds, was received at Hillsboro on last Thursday and placed in the cupola of their new school building to the satisfaction of all

[illegible] of G. R. Cross, has been in Hillsboro laboring in the interests of that order for three days past with average success The Good T[illegible] organization is up to the high [illegible] and is doing a good work They pass [illegible] resolutions of encouragement of the Crusaders of Portland, feeling that something [illegible] that city, so that a country man could pass along its streets without the [illegible] and a posse of policemen to [illegible] him in open day, to say nothing of the [illegible] The majority of Portland are favorable to the use of liquors, I suppose from the [illegible] of the press, and join with Moffett [illegible] these Crusaders highly in[illegible] in their efforts

Mr [illegible] Watson, of Reedville killed two [illegible] with strychnine last Thursday The night previous something had [illegible] from the pen where he had [illegible] Thinking, perhaps it was dogs, he put out the poison the next night, and on going to the place next morning judge of his [illegible] at finding these two animals not a dozen rods from the house. Mr Watson thinks he has caught the sheep thieves that have been raiding around lately near Reedville.

[illegible] is in full blast at this [illegible] Presiding Elder Roberts Wolf, and [illegible] preachers The sermons are good and highly appreciated

Hereafter no extension of a patent will be granted by a direct act of Congress—the plan [illegible] on by the Committee on Patents being in meritorious cases to recommend an act to enable the applicant to go before the Patent Office for official investigation and de[illegible] This will put a stop to a vast amount of jobbery and corruption and nip a great [illegible] extension schemes of grasp[illegible] in the bud there being at present nearly eighty to one hundred bills before the Committee most of which are in favor of granting extensions to old patents on which heavy sums as royalty have already been paid.

It is now plainly evident that Congress in deference to public opinion will reform some of the more glaring evils of Custom House [illegible] The system of moieties will most probably be dispensed with and all fines go direct into the United States Treasury. Future invoices will not be liable to confiscation on account of a single error of valuation. [illegible] penalties will be proportioned to the actual offense committed and it will no longer be possible for detectives to acquire vast fortunes at the expense of merchants on the one hand, or of the people on the other

Man know thyself A Democratic editor in Iowa declines an invitation to become a candidate for Congress on the ground that to become a member of that body would require him to be the equal of negroes It is not often that persons of his stamp have such a vivid [illegible] sense of their natural deficiencies and shortcomings

"Brother Beecher," says the venerable Dr Bacon, laying his hand on the great preacher's shoulder, "Brother Beecher I saw the devil whispered in your ear just now, that this was a very fine lecture " "O no," replied Mr Beecher, "he left that for you to do."

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO April 12.—Another murder was committed last night in the Fourth Ward of this city in the private residence of John [illegible] Fitzpatrick About half past [illegible] James H Flemming entered the [illegible] He was intoxicated and quarrelsome Fitzpatrick [illegible] ordered him away saying it was late and he wanted to retire Flemming would not go Fitzpatrick took hold of him and got him to the street door when Flemming broke away from him and ran back into the house and attacked a young man John G Corbett knocking him down Corbett regained his feet and both men scuffled into the hall when Corbett got Flemming down and with a dirk knife stabbed him four times They then rolled the wounded man out on the sidewalk where he was found in a dying condition and taken to a drug store and died in a few minutes Several officers went to the house and succeeded in finding and arresting Corbett He claims that he acted in self-defense

It is reported that the defalcation of Magill, agent in this city of the Phœnix of Hartford Home of New York North British and Mercantile Insurance Cos amounts to over $50,000 that he has assigned all of his property but that it is not sufficient to wholly cover the deficiency

Leonard Tufts was arrested this evening by detectives Lees and Stone charged with the crime of forgery

The steamer Tartar due from Australia, has not yet arrived

A row occurred this evening in a restaurant on Kearney street Knives and pistols were drawn, but no tragedy occurred.

Interior California.

MARTINEZ Cal April 13.—Copious showers of rain fell at intervals during yesterday The farmers are rejoiced over the prospect of an abundant harvest

George Samuels aged 15 years left his home in Pacheco valley on Saturday morning last for the purpose of hunting He has not yet returned and it is feared that he has met with some accident as no trace of his whereabouts can be found

The Fifteenth District Court convenes in this place on Tuesday next Two hundred jurors have been drawn The murder case of Wm Nash and Mrs Gersbach will be the first on trial

The Mount Diablo summit road will be opened for public travel on the first day of May

SAN JOSE April 13.—The election of city officers to-day was unusually quiet—all the saloons being closed. On the door of one saloon was tied the suggestive emblem of a whisky bottle with crape tied around the neck The votes are not yet counted It is probable that Mayor Murphy is re-elected

THE ENDORSEMENT

HILLSBORO April 10 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The Forest Grove Independent and perhaps the Immortal Te[illegible] come out on endorsement of the ticket with flags and banners but forget to endorse or even mention the name of C T Tozier for Sheriff I suppose it might have been an oversight for I cannot think that any one would have the hardihood to attempt to take off or put on to the ticket which was put out by the people So far as Mr Tozier is concerned he is no more to me than any other man, but considering the universally large attendance at the primaries and the class of men that attended the County Convention Mr Tozier is evidently the choice of a majority of the Independent voters of the county though there seem to be some that are anxious to say and do all they can to injure Mr Tozier and insure his defeat and thereby defeat the entire ticket with, perhaps one or two exceptions (and they friends on the ticket) If Mr Tozier is not the choice of the people of Washington county, let the people so decide at the polls but if the omission was purposely made such flings come with poor grace from a disappointed faction of office-seekers and manipulationists which do not amount to enough in the county to do anything when in operation with the remainder of the county As an officer, Mr Tozier has done as well as any sheriff in the county The business entrusted to him has always been promptly attended to and if any man thinks that he has been cheated or defrauded let him apply to the Court So far as the odious fees are concerned it is expected that corporations that have bought and sold Legislatures like sheep in the shambles will now since the people are moving, try to find a subject for them to slaughter outside of their ring It is very convenient you know And the Legislature and Governor who sanctioned it are to go free

THE CLEVELAND CRUSADE.—In Pearl street the women stopped to cross when the rabble closed in and one fellow named Frank Klein made use of insulting language A policeman seized him when a rush was made toward rescue Other officers some firemen and citizens went to help make the arrest and for a while a lively time and general riot seemed imminent but the police drew their billies and revolvers and managed to keep the crowd pretty well subdued The fellow seized was taken to the station and his brother Nicholas Klein who tried to rescue him was also captured He gave the officers much trouble A passing fire-cart was stopped and Klein was put in The horse became frightened at the yells of the crowd and ran away A wheel struck a hitching post and fireman officer and prisoner were thrown out The prisoner was badly hurt about the head Seeing one side of his face bloody the rabble became more excited and made another rush but the officers [illegible] ally receiving reinforcements were victorious and after hard work succeeded in putting Klein in the station While this was going on a party of women were visiting saloons on [illegible] street but they received the protection of police and were not molested But the excitement kept increasing and the crowd swelled steadily Some brewers got a band and a party of men in three vehicles and drove about the streets with flags flying drinking beer and making bacchanalian speeches Half the police was called out and the Mayor and full Board of Police Commissioners went to the seat of disturbance They found the women in a saloon and as they were coming out the Mayor advised them under the circumstances to go home A sufficient escort was furnished and they went home. One wagon load of brewers and saloon keepers were arrested after the men refused to stop driving about the streets making unseemly disturbance

THE NATIONAL INDEPENDENT REFORM PARTY

Is the name by which I designate that movement [illegible] the people that [illegible] in the [illegible] States of the West which [illegible] tidal wave swept over [illegible] last fall and is now rolling [illegible] over the green fields and farm homes of Oregon [illegible] protection to [illegible] and the ennoblement of industrial pursuits. That movement, which is now extending over the cotton rice and sugar fields of the Southern States and that [illegible] its way over the wheat and corn fields of the Northern and Eastern States

[illegible] NATIONAL

A party already acting, if not organized in Congress in favor of the objects of this movement [illegible] to procure the passage of laws controlling and regulating freights and fares upon inter States railroad fixing maximum rates at least and getting a commission of competent and honest persons to fix such rates as cannot be reached by a general law Laws reducing railroads to subordination as public servants laws that relieve the agriculturalist from the extortion of the common carrier, and that measurably insure him in reaping where he has sown

CONGRESSMEN FAVORING THIS MEASURE

Are just now in demand in all those States and a President is called for in 1876 It is hoped and believed by many that through the union of all the great agricultural interests of the country a union of the States North and South will be accomplished old party ties will be demolished and destroyed and a long disunited people be restored to brotherhood and happiness

ABOLITION FROM PARTY [illegible]

Is among the first re[illegible] of this people because they cannot combine their strength and work for their common and mutual interests while the memory of former combats victories and defeats rankle in their hearts and whilst interested leaders constantly remind them of secession or abolition of Bull Run or Shiloh to achieve political victories and not in the spoils of office

[illegible] OF PARTY

Is the bane of the nation It is the harness that leaders have put upon the backs of the people It is a collar on the neck a bridle in the mouth of the voter It is a rider on his back with a whip in his hand and spur on his heel It is whisky and bribery at elections It is a bully at the ballot box and consequently a thief and a vulture in office

The party is therefore, Independent as well as National and

IT DESIRES REFORM

In inter State and State transportation in the subjugation of railroads to the service of the people by true and equitable legislation

In relieving the people of the present onerous burdens of taxation by a speedy reduction of expenditures to a normal and healthy standard

In the passage of laws restraining intemperance such at least as local option and civil damage laws in discouraging land monopoly so that the country may be thickly settled and thus assist our common school systems making education for all the children of the nation possible and assured

IN THE ELECTION OF PRESIDENT

And U S Senators by a direct vote of the people and in establishing the one term principle relative to the tenure of office and in all cases basing the payment for official services upon a fair and reasonable compensation by fixed salary. Official corruption to be visited by degradation and punishment as other crimes

DEGRADATION OF LABOR

The shores of the Pacific are crowded with the Tartar hordes of Asia Six hundred thousand cheap laborers owned by six importing houses in San Francisco—foreigners—fill the places of honest labor and drive out of employment poor men and women of Caucasian blood preventing immigration from our ancestral stock in Europe degrading industrial employments compelling the poor to starve, or to serve in competition with the venal almost brutal slaves of Asia We demand the removal of this local evil at the hands of the nation

NOT [illegible] FAMINE [illegible]

We demand that the office shall hunt the man not the man the office That office-hunting shall be discouraged by moderate wages by penalties for stealing and peculation by studiously avoiding the nomination of seekers by selecting only good men honest and capable and by turning them back to their old employments as soon as they have served one term so that we may soon wear out the stain of being a nation of office seekers

God help the praying women to save their fathers husbands and sons and sons in law, from the blighting curse of intemperance and themselves from poverty rags beatings and divorces and I am again yours for Truth and God as ever

At an election held on Easter Monday the [illegible] April 1874 of Vestrymen at St Peters Church Tacoma for the ensuing year Messrs C J Allen [illegible] Cooke H [illegible] were chosen At a meeting of the new Vestry Mr C L [illegible] Church Warden and Mr Chas [illegible] Rector Warden

[illegible] election was held and the following is the list of successful candidates [illegible] Mayor Philip Keach Councilmen [illegible] Marshal A H Lowe Assessor [illegible] Clerk C W Gallagher

The [illegible] Mr [illegible] W [illegible] was in town today [illegible] the remnant of contract [illegible] Every claim that was known to be due has been paid though a few unknown [illegible] probably outstanding [illegible] amount however Of the [illegible] the past two weeks Mr [illegible] and Capt [illegible] worth have paid $47,000

The Deer Lodge [illegible] of March 24th says That there should have been a call on Montana for a supply of grain to the use of the British Boundary Commission engaged in defining and marking with suitable monument the line between the British possessions and the U S was entirely unexpected. Several [illegible] one quarter million pounds of oats have within the last 10 or 14 days been quietly bought for that purpose

Fushington Philpotts (proud of his foreign cast of countenance)—"There's precious little of the Saxon about me I can tell you My people the De Loncherons de Filepotence came over from France years ago—ages ago Chaffington Smiley—"Ah Before the Extradition treaty, I suppose!"

THE SUMNER FAMILY

[illegible]

There were nine [illegible] children born to Mrs Sumner who was a very distinguished looking lady The family lived on Hancock street Boston and there all the children were brought up Henry the eldest who was a large powerful man died in Orange N J some years since. Charles was the next and his mother was always very proud of him Being asked how it was he had become the possessor of so many acquirements, she said that Charles when a boy was a very good scholar and diligent at his studies Albert Sumner was like his brother a splendid specimen of manhood He with his wife and family took passage for Europe in the Ville and were lost with that unfortunate vessel

In connection with this event, a singular circumstance occurred Albert Sumner's wife was a very rich lady possessing upwards of a million dollars in her own right, and when she was lost the Sumner family thought that rightfully they ought to be considered the heirs-at-law Accordingly they contested the inheritance with the lady's relatives, and ultimately won the suit But the Sumners had only gone to law to vindicate their honor and their rights they had no intention of impoverishing the dead woman's family and having won the cause they magnanimously resigned all the property to the wife's relatives thus exhibiting rare disinterestedness

George Sumner came to his death in a very remarkable way During the war he was going to inspect some troops at a short distance from Boston, when he met with an accident in getting in or out of railway cars and hurt one of his knee-caps He was very much in favor of the water cure theory and went to a water-cure establishment to get his leg treated However the injury went on from bad to worse until finally George was so paralyzed all over his body that it could hardly be said that any part of him but his head and his heart was truly alive

Horace a younger son, was a slender youth quite different in appearance from his stalwart brother, the Senator He was placed for some time with Levi Bartlett of Warner, N H to learn farming He was of a dreamy, poetic nature, fond of reading and meditation, and very little inclined for any practical business of life After leaving Warner he went abroad and stopped in Rome for some time, with Margaret Fuller Ossoli and her husband The two latter with their child were coming to America and Horace embarked with them When almost within sight of home the vessel was wrecked off the Long Island coast, and many on board including the Ossoli family and Horace were lost.

There were three daughters in the Sumner family of whom only Julia, who is married to a medical officer in the United States service in California survives. The rest of the family died when yet young. Charles Sumner's own modest fortune came to him by the successive deaths of his brothers who left their property to him

THE GRANDEST COLLEGE HALL IN THE WORLD

President Eliot is not generally regarded as a braggart and when in his annual report to the overseers of Harvard College, he spoke of the great dining hall now nearly completed, in connection with Memorial Hall in these words "It is by far the grandest college hall in the world and there are very few rooms for secular purposes in existence which can be compared with it," people were disposed to lift their eye brows a little, and to feel uncomfortable at the thought of the peacock taking possession of the university There are few public halls abroad, especially in England that move men educated in our American colleges so much as the great college halls like those in Oxford and Cambridge Memorial Hall and the more extensive Dining Hall, which with the theater, planned but not built, form the great building erected by the alumni of Harvard in commemoration of the noble dead will appeal in the same way to travelers and to students and as a matter of dimensions President Eliot is assuredly right Christ Church Hall at Oxford is 115 feet by 40 and 50 in height Queens College Hall measures 60 feet by 30. In Cambridge St John's College Hall is also 60 by 30, that of Corpus Christi College is [illegible] by [illegible] the height [illegible] Trinity Hall is 36 feet in length by 24 in width, and 25 in height and the two greatest halls, those of King's College and Trinity College, are the former, 102 feet long, 26 feet wide, and 45 feet high the latter 102 feet long 40 feet wide and 50 feet high This last may be considered the finest college hall in England Now the dining hall at Harvard is 165 feet in length 60 feet in width and from 50 to 60 feet in height so then as regards dimensions, it surpasses the finest of the English halls, and when it is added that Memorial Hall, connecting with it is 104 feet in length by 40 in width and that the theater will be added finally upon the other side with corresponding proportions it will be seen that Harvard men may feel a justifiable pride in the structure Nor is it simply in its bigness that one may rejoice but in the noble simplicity of the interior the honest workmanship, and the beauty of its lofty open timber roof—[illegible] Standard

ANECDOTE OF VOLTAIRE.—In the Reminiscences of Holland House is the following anecdote of Voltaire which will be new to most readers "While learning the English language (which he did not love) finding that the word plague with its letter was a monosyllable and ague with only the last four letters of plague dissyllable he expressed a wish that the plague might take one half of the English language and the ague the other

When Charles Lamb was invited at a public dinner to say grace and responded with the remark "Is there no minister present Then let us thank God" he was a satirist and he knew it When a sheriff down in Vermont in opening the County Court cried "All persons having causes or matters pending therein draw near and they shall be heard and God save the people," he was a satirist and didn't know it

A SCIENTIFIC COOK.—The New York Herald tells that the [illegible] who superintends Mr Bennett's soup houses in New York is one of the foremost culinary artists in this country He carries on a scientific correspondence with the chef de cuisine d'hotel to Emperor William of Germany and his brother was chef to the Emperor Napoleon for many years, and is now with the Empress Eugenie at Chiselhurst

The Cincinnati Enquirer offers to bet five thousand dollars that no fashionable lady ever goes to bed without looking in her glass, and [illegible] is willing to risk the same sum that any Cincinnati editor goes to bed without drinking out of his.

TUESDAY MORNING APRIL 14 1874

THE ZEAL FOR WHICH JAYNE WAS COMPLIMENTED

It will be recollected that a few days since the telegraph announced the resignation of Col Jayne U S Treasury Agent and made mention that in accepting his resignation the President complimented the retiring officer for his zeal and efficiency in the public service That Jayne was sufficiently zealous to satisfy any reasonable man there can be no doubt but it is not quite so certain that his zeal was always so directed as to entitle him to receive an unusual mark of distinction upon his retiracy Certainly the President had not read the disclosures made in the investigation before the House Committee on Ways and Means or he would have been less prodigal of his compliments reserving them for some person whose zeal could be commended without appearing to give executive sanction to repeated acts of oppression such as would be miscalled if mentioned as anything short of outrages upon community In the New York Times of March 7th is an account of some of the proceedings before the Ways and Means Committee that might have opened the eyes of the President a little had he read it Before giving a summary of the facts there stated it is proper to premise, (though there are few persons who do not already know it) that the New York Times is about as nearly an Administration paper as any respectable journal in the United States

The subject under examination by the Committee was the moiety system under which spies and informers have a pecuniary interest in running down cases of supposed frauds upon the revenue, proportionate to the amount of moneys collected Representatives from the Boston and New York Boards of Trade went before the Committee to urge the abolishment of the moiety system, all citing instances in which the law had been used by informers, mainly under the management of Jayne, to harass and oppress merchants into compromising for frauds falsely alleged against them, by the payment of large sums of money to buy their peace Mr Cephas Brainard of New York, related a case that came within his personal knowledge, in which, without any process other than a warrant issued by a Collector of Customs upon mere suspicion eighty three miscellaneous account books four bundles of private correspondence and two boxes of papers belonging to a large German importing house that had been doing an extensive business for fifteen years This seizure was on account of alleged frauds in connection with the importation of hair cloth in October, 1868, and October 1869, and the seizing officers remained in possession of all this property for two months without taking any steps to have the guilt or innocence of the parties determined legally. And when the parties themselves wished to commence proceedings to have the case determined, they were refused access to the books and papers from which alone they could obtain the information necessary for that purpose. They sent Mr Brainard to Washington to see the Secretary of the Treasury about the matter, and that officer replied that from what Col Jayne reported it must be "a very bad case of fraud, and the German house would better settle by paying $75,000." The books were then put into the room of Jayne and when access to them was asked by the owners, the reply of Jayne was that unless they paid him $75,000 for the compromise, "we will drive you out of the market." It was also stated that Jayne put hand cuffs on persons to frighten them into making compromises by the payment of money, but Jayne, who was himself before the committee denied this, saying he "he never threatened merchants, he simply read the law to them and told them they were liable to go to prison, and said to them how much better it would be for them to confess to their wickedness in defrauding the revenue; and that when this course failed he read the terrors of the law to them" It was by such means as these that $271,000 were squeezed out of Phelps, Dodge & Co Another case was cited of several Baltimore firms that had been subjected to this tyrannical inquisition to such an extent that the District Judge, remarking upon them from the bench, said in substance that there was no evidence of the guilt of the parties, and that the seizure of their books was an outrage so gross that they would have good ground of actions for damages against the detectives, but for the fact that the law cut off all remedies for injuries thus done

From Boston, from New York from Philadelphia, similar cases were reported The system, it appears has been an engine in the hands of detectives for the oppression of merchants and Jayne has been the most efficient of the blackmailer The law offered a bribe for perjury and other species of scoundrelism, and Jayne proved to be, of all men, most susceptible to its influences. Zeal in turning the most infamous feature of an infamous system to the most corrupt uses scarcely deserves the compliment which Jayne received when the exposure of his rascalities rendered his retirement necessary, and the administration does little to inspire and strengthen public confidence in its integrity and purity by complimenting such villainy.

NESMITH AND HIPPLE

The anomalous relations between Nesmith and Senator Hipple have attracted the attention of the representatives of the press at Washington A correspondent of an Eastern paper has interviewed Nesmith on the subject and gives the result as well as some remarks upon the general social standing of our John Hipple in a letter from which we clip the following

"What has been the nature of your course with Hipple?" said I to Nesmith

"Well" said he "not long ago we got together and I asked him if he was going to unite with me for the interests of Oregon here or not. If he wished fight I was with [illegible] but I told him I thought it better for both of us to sink personal differences at present

Hipple-Mitchell replied "I don't know about this Nesmith, you have said some pretty hard things about me in the last campaign?"

Nesmith's remark here is eminently characteristic of him Said he "Mr Mitchell if you can think of anything else I might have said please considered it as said in addition to all I have previously expressed upon the subject I have not a word to take back My opinion of you will never change, but yet I can for the time being while you hold your position overlook that in the furtherance of Oregon interests If you wish to do so well and good but if you wish to fight why fight it"

Hipple Mitchell thought a moment and the result led to [illegible] now as far as [illegible] Nesmith and the big [illegible] Senator are upon good enough terms Nesmith however is never backward in expressing his opinion about Hipple-Mitchell [illegible] story [illegible] quite generally known and he is accordingly cold shouldered. I have seen [illegible] a good deal of this lawless Oregon Senator since my coming here this winter and I have never seen any of the Senators in conversation with him upon any at all friendly footing Socially he is ostracised among those who are his peers in political position

The informer who received as his portion of the Phelps Dodge & Co blood money the nice little sum of $[illegible]

THE MARION COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

HOW ONE OF THE NOMINATIONS WAS PUT [illegible]

SILVERTON Oregon April 11 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The dissatisfaction with the Republican county ticket increases rather than diminishes Many things in the management of the Convention are coming now to the surface that have hitherto been kept dark Much opposition is being made manifest against Cranston for the Legislature. Warren Cranston and H D Mount were both talked of for the Legislature from this precinct and the delegation was divided between them After consultation the delegation asked both of them to withdraw Mount readily acceded to the request and Cranston after earnest talk on the part of his delegation said "I'll not run for a nomination," and with this understanding the delegation urged the claims of Prof F P Smith, of Silverton for School Superintendent But some one in the Convention from Salem in obedience to the command of the ring master placed Cranston in nomination for the Legislature and to use the words of one of his own delegation "he sat like a knot on a log and would not do as he solemnly agreed to do decline to run" His delegation were indignant at this and attribute the defeat of Prof Smith in the Convention to Cranston's treachery Smith and Mount have each many friends here who will remember this on election day Either of them would have run well Cranston will fall largely behind his ticket

Some complaint is made that Morse for Clerk played double in the Convention to secure the nomination I have the facts and I will give them to the public soon More of their doings next week The Independent ticket takes well here INDEPENDENT

THE LIQUOR QUESTION

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In the report of Police Commissioners of this city as published in your paper a few days since I was impressed with the exceedingly large percentage of the city arrests made in the last five years the causes for which were either directly or indirectly attributable to intemperance and below will be found a table showing the causes of arrests for the years 1869 1870 1871 1872 1873 with some estimates of the proportion of each class of arrests not directly charged as "Drunk and Disorderly" that are nevertheless traceable to this cause It has seemed to me that a table like this would enable the taxpayers and others an opportunity to see at a glance the increasing and alarming extent of police business accruing through the sale of liquors in our city and this reminds me that in order to avoid misapprehension, I should state that the city arrests do not represent all the arrests by any means made by the Police during this period as it will be remembered that the Police arrests are not confined to city offenses but quite a number of arrests are made each year for State offenses which of course are not included in the list herewith The estimates made of the proportion of each class of crimes attributable to intemperance I think will be admitted by all who have watched these matters closely to be fair By the figures it will be seen that during this period there were 4 6[illegible] arrests for city offenses, of which 3 52[illegible] were for drunk and disorderly leaving 1 162 for other offenses a trifle over 75 per cent being directly for this offense. But notice the character of the remaining 1,162 offenses They are most of them so closely connected with intemperance that my estimate if correct would prove that out of the 4 6[illegible] total arrests here named [illegible] could be traced to this vice for their origin leaving but 530 arrests in five years for city offenses other than those of this class It is certainly enough to make one stop and think [illegible] the price we are paying for the privilege of having liquors sold in our midst It cannot be reduced to figures It is not, and cannot be expressed in dollars and cents though we pay a large bonus in cash even after deducting the receipts from licenses and houses But it is one of those matters which if you would learn something of what it costs, you must go to the drunkard's home as one lady did quite lately asking the lady of the house to sign a pledge or petition or some thing of the kind The lady replied wringing her hands in anguish "Oh! yes! I will do anything My husband is drunk here in the house now and has been drunk for two weeks Oh! yes anything to drive it out of the land" That is the part of the price the women of our land are paying while hard working sober men are taxed to take care of or punish the intemperate

CITY.

HAD TO DESIST —Yesterday afternoon a number of ladies—members of the Union Temperance League—visited for the sixth or seventh time the saloon at the corner of Morrison and First streets Notwithstanding the rain was pouring down with all the violence of an April shower the ladies forthwith began to sing and pray Moffett from appearances was utterly a vain, or at least the ladies did not pay him unprepared Whistling for police was at once commenced which served as a signal to attract a large crowd Simultaneous with the whistle a vigorous pounding on gongs began which raised a fearful din Two fellows were hired by Moffett to beat on these discordant instruments for the express purpose of drowning the ladies off Amidst this deafening tumult the ladies sang and prayed as undisturbed as if all was tranquil The crowd continued to augment in numbers the whistle to sound at intervals and the distracting din of the gongs to never cease. Policemen were on hand and by constant effort kept a narrow passageway open through the crowd No efforts were made to disperse the crowd nor to arrest the ladies This state of affairs continued to exist for about half an hour neither side manifesting the least disposition to give up At length however after singing and praying for some time the ladies quietly retired and as a matter of course the crowd dispersed To-day we understand the ladies propose to visit the saloon again, when a disgraceful scene such as was witnessed yesterday, will doubtless be re-enacted

OLD PAPERS —Yesterday, Mr Oxer Librarian of the Portland Library, laid on our table some very ancient literature, in the form of several old journals, which were published in the early colonial days One of these papers is the Boston Gazette and Country Journal published at the "Hub," and bears date of Monday March 12th 1770 Unfortunately the name of the gentleman who drove the quill is not announced at the head of its columns, but in its stead A journal containing the freshest advices, foreign and domestic" The next paper before us is the New York Morning Post, Vol III No 175 This journal was printed by Messrs Morton & Horner, at No 7 Water street, between the Coffee House and the Old Slip." It was issued "every Tuesday and Friday" The Post bears date of Friday November [illegible] 1783 The last and oldest paper is the New England Weekly Journal, No [illegible] "containing the most Remarkable Occurrences Foreign and Domestic." This copy of the Journal was issued Monday, April 8th 1728 The papers are printed on cream colored paper, of coarse texture, and the mechanical and typographical labor is executed in a very primitive style clearly indicating that the "art preservative" was in its crude state The old papers were collected in New York by Mr Jas Goldsmith, formerly of this city and forwarded to Mr Oxer They are worthy of preservation as specimens of "Ye Ancient Journals" of America.

CISTERN COMMENCED —At length work has commenced on the cistern at the intersection of Stark and First streets Timbers were landed on the ground yesterday preparatory to commencing the work First the planking will be torn from the top of the old cistern and railway track Strong pieces of timber will be placed down to span the excavation on which will be laid the track and the runway for the horses Plank railings will be placed along on each side to prevent the horses from shying from the track By this arrangement the regular trips of the cars will not be interrupted during the time the cistern is being constructed We learn that the cement to be extensively used in the construction of this cistern, and the non arrival of which has caused such vexatious delays, has been received and vigorous efforts will be made to have this much needed improvement completed at the earliest possible day

NEW TELEGRAPH LINE.—In the course of three or four weeks it is the intention of the Western Union Telegraph Company to commence the work of rebuilding the telegraph line between Roseburg and Yreka One hundred and thirty miles of wire was brought up on the Ajax, E. Stephens and forwarded at once by rail to Roseburg where it will remain until operations are commenced. On the steamer Gussie Telfair [illegible] 000 glass insulators are being brought up which will be sent south immediately on their arrival As soon as the roads become firm enough to bear loaded wagons, a gang of men will begin. One hundred and thirty miles of new line will be built this spring and summer This portion of the line is quite old having been constantly used for more than ten years It is in bad order, the [illegible] eaten, the poles have nearly rotted off, and the line needs almost constant repair to keep it in operating condition

ON A VISIT —Among the musicians of the State few men are better known than John Everest This gentleman has resided in Portland many years and was leader of the old Mechanics Brass Band for a long time Early [illegible] Mr Everest removed to Dayton where he remained some time His health was very precarious at the time he left Portland, and it was thought he would not survive long At one time his death was published in the daily press here but it proved to be incorrect Yesterday Mr Everest gave us a call He is in excellent health and fine spirits He is now living at Junction and engaged in teaching some half a dozen bands in that region the art of "blowing" in an artistic manner Mr Everest came down to purchase a set of brass instruments for a new band just organized

COURTS.—The United States Circuit Court convened yesterday morning and adjourned until next Saturday This morning the United States District Court will meet when all the grand jurors summoned several weeks ago are expected to be in attendance The Circuit Court for this county adjourned last Saturday for the term Circuit Court for Columbia county commenced yesterday morning at St Helens Judge Upton went down on the boat to preside Several attorneys of this city are also in attendance on the Court Next Monday morning the Circuit Court for Clackamas county will convene at Oregon City Last Saturday the County Court of Multnomah adjourned over until next Saturday the 18th instant

RATES OF FERRIAGE INCREASED.—Last Saturday on petition of Joseph Knott to increase the rates of ferriage on the boat plying on the Willamette river from the foot of Stark street in the city of Portland to the foot of [illegible] street in East Portland, the County Commissioners have ordered that the ferriage upon each truck or other wagon load of three thousand pounds and driver drawn by one pair of horses shall be twenty five cents For each additional ton weight, or part thereof above three thousand pounds with driver, twenty five cents For each additional animal attached to such truck or other wagon, in addition to the further ten cents.

PROLIFIC SHEEP —We have been shown a letter written to a gentleman in this city by a person who is keeper of a sheep ranch near the Dalles in Wasco county The writer says "On the 1st of April I had [illegible] ewes with [illegible] lambs I have now about 300 lambs more than one-third of which are twins How is that Should they keep on increasing in that ratio I shall have over 700 lambs from [illegible] I think is very good I intend to [illegible] for the first prize on twins If any other farmer or sheep-raiser can discount the above we should be pleased to hear from him

A DASTARDLY WRETCH —Two or three weeks ago Mrs. T J Carter and a daughter [illegible] Miller, were attacked by some scoundrel [illegible] in the evening while going to church at the corner of Main and High streets He first caught one round the waist, but she broke away, and they got as far as the next corner when the man following up caught the other lady by the ankle She screamed and the man left. He carried an umbrella, with which he hid his face so that they were unable to see him

FRAME UP —Since ground was formally broken for the parsonage building for Trinity Church at the corner of Fifth and Oak streets, work has gone forward with all possible dispatch. Already the frame of the structure is erected. Roofing and the weatherboarding will soon follow Ninety days was the period allowed by the contract for the completion of the structure From present appearances the building will be finished and ready for occupancy ere that time

EXCAVATION COMMENCED —Yesterday a gang of men began excavation on First street for the foundation of Mr Reed's new brick building All the old wooden tenements have been moved away leaving the space clear with the exception of vast quantities of rubbish in the shape of old bricks and decayed wood This debris is being carted away as rapidly as possible Masonry work will commence within three weeks at the furthest if not prior to that time

PATENTS GRANTED —Messrs Alexander & Mason solicitors of patents Washington D C inform us that Col H R Leonard and A P Denison of Portland were in the latter part of March granted a patent for an invention known as a "Water Meter" The invention is intended to measure and regulate the use of water in cities on the same principle as gas meters a well known contrivance of long and advantageous use

TELEGRAPH LINE TO ASTORIA

The following letter, which has been handed us by Dr Plummer will best explain itself

Local Editor Oregonian I have before me a letter from General Superintendent Gamble in which he says in regard to the Astoria line

As an inducement for getting up a joint stock company among those directly interested I will make the following proposition

If the line is built from Cornelius I will give the use of our line between that point and Portland free In other words they can use that as a section of the line connecting directly with our office We will furnish office operators and include superintendence of line at Portland for $100 per month In addition to this we will make a rebate on all messages between Astoria and San Francisco of 33 per cent therefore if the tariff is made $2 that line will get one half

If they wish we will build the line and turn it over to them at cost [illegible] I think the line can be built for not to exceed $8 000 The above arrangement to last for three years

I estimate the expense of running the line as follows Office and operator at Astoria, $75 per month at Portland $100 Intermediate station between Cornelius and Astoria for repairs say $100 to cover all expenses Total $275 A line by the river route would certainly cost more than by way of Cornelius—probably 50 per cent more

Should our people decide upon that route a connection could be made at Cowlitz on favorable terms

The want of a line to Astoria is badly felt especially in the interest of commerce and of our city If it is not built under Col Gamble's proposition, I fear we will be without it for some time Very respectfully

MURDER AT CHAMPOEG.

From passengers by yesterday afternoon's train we learn that Thomas Hubbard, an old Oregonian, and for many years a resident of Champoeg, was shot and mortally wounded on Saturday last by Thomas Gerrand a half breed The particulars of the bloody affair, as they come to us are very meagre It seems the parties had a dispute on the road a short distance from Champoeg, concerning a sum of money which as Gerrand claimed Hubbard owed for wood Hubbard declined to pay the amount some warm words passed and they separated Gerrand saying as he went "I have a —— good notion to shoot you" Afterwards Hubbard went into a store in Champoeg whither Gerrand followed him As the latter entered the doorway Hubbard said to those standing near him "Here's a man who says he's going to shoot me" To him Gerrand replied "I believe I will do it" and Hubbard answered "All right! blaze away!" The words had scarcely been uttered before Gerrand drew his pistol and fired the shot taking effect in Hubbard's neck entering on the left side and ranging downward lodging in the right shoulder A surgeon was called and the ball was extracted It is believed that Hubbard cannot long survive In the community where he had so long resided he has enjoyed a reputation for good behavior and peaceable disposition

Immediately on firing the fatal shot Gerrand fled He is now a fugitive from justice although it is by no means probable that he can long elude the officers who are on his track The constable of Champoeg offers a reward of $50 for the apprehension of Gerrand

AMUSEMENTS.

This evening "The Lady of the Lake" will be rendered at Oro Fino Theater for the first time The characters in this beautiful three act drama will be personated by a number of amateurs of the city For weeks this play has been in careful course of preparation under the painstaking and experienced management of Mr Whyte No time or pains have been spared to drill the performers in their respective parts and to put the play on the stage in first class style From the character of the rehearsal we feel warranted in assuring the public that this play will be rendered in a manner highly creditable to the performers and satisfactory to the public Following the drama will be introduced a musical olio consisting of vocal and instrumental selections in which a number of well known amateurs will appear "Poppleton's Predicament" a side splitting farce will conclude the evening's entertainment Prof Kay will have charge of the orchestra which is a sufficient guarantee that the musical portion of the performance will be up to the highest [illegible] The proceeds are to be donated to the Catholic Library and the entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Catholic Social Union There is a great rush to secure seats and a crowded house [illegible]

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING.

The voters of School District No 1 of Multnomah county met at the Central School building in this city on Monday evening April 13th at 7 30 pursuant to notice J S Giltner Chairman of the Board of Directors took the chair and called the meeting to order

The minutes of the annual meeting of 1873 were read and approved

The Chairman stated that the Clerk had been unable to complete his annual report and would ask that a few days time to complete said report be allowed that as the report of the Board of Directors as to the condition of the schools of the District was somewhat in its nature supplementary to the Clerk's report it would be necessary [illegible] usual investigation [illegible] before them [illegible] would suggest that the committee be appointed who would be furnished with the reports and could make their report at an adjourned meeting which [illegible] tax [illegible] be levied

W S Ladd [illegible] the [illegible] Acting Clerk then read the following

REPORT OF THE BOARD

We take pleasure in stating to the citizens and patrons of District No 1 that the schools of this District have never been more prosperous than at present Twelve hundred and twenty six pupils were enrolled during the first half of the year the number being largely in excess of the preceding year This has required the services of several additional teachers Twenty-six teachers constitute the present corps and there is an imperative demand for five additional teachers in the Primary Department In view of the growing importance of our public schools and the necessity of a direct and explicit supervision of the entire system it has been deemed expedient to employ the services of S W King a gentleman of large experience as a practical teacher and one of the best educators in the State to exercise a general supervision over the Grammar Intermediate and Primary Departments The entire forenoon of each school day is devoted by Mr King to systematizing and directing the methods of instruction in the above named Departments in accordance with the course laid down by the Board of Directors Mr King is employed one half his time as teacher in the High School in the active duties of teaching At the annual school meeting held one year since in this District a Committee, consisting of Messrs Williams Quackenbush and Bacon, recommended and strongly urged the importance of employing a competent teacher to take charge of each of the

THREE PRIMARY DEPARTMENTS

The above named school meeting voted to refer the matter to the Board of Directors, and after carefully considering the same we have deemed it best and most economical for the Directors to employ Mr King as herein before stated to devote one half of his time as assistant in the High School and the other half to a general supervision of the other Departments We found that a competent Principal for each of the Primary Departments would cost the District $1 000 The difference in the cost of the services of three such teachers estimated at $3 000 and that of S W King at $1 500 is $1 500 The Chairman of the Board Dr J S Giltner though at first opposed to this measure after witnessing the beneficial effects of the same, does now approve and cheerfully co operate with his colleagues in recommending the continuance of the same

We would recommend that the present grade system of teaching in our public schools be maintained at the present grade

For keeping our public schools up to the present grade will require the following amounts of money

Present number of teachers salaries that are now employed—
High School three	$ [illegible]00 00
North Portland Grammar School one principal and six assistants	[illegible] 00
Central Grammar School one principal and seven assistants	[illegible] 00
Harrison Street Grammar School one principal and five assistants	[illegible] 00
Prof S W King head principal of and instructor in Grammar and High school	1 800 00
Macadamized Road School	[illegible] 00
Total	$ [illegible] 00
Five assistant teachers yet required $600 each	[illegible] 00
Janitors salaries	1 [illegible] 00
Clerk's Salary and tax list	1 000 00
Painting three schoolhouses	1,500 00
Constructing wall and fence around Central block as per architect's plans and estimate	2,000 00
School desks (200) and fixtures	1 000 00
Wood sawing and storing	1 200 00
Incidental expenses	5 000 00
For enlarging and addition to Harrison Street School House	2,500 00
Approximated deficiency	1 000 00
Total amount necessary to defray expenses	$41 [illegible] 00

To meet the above requirements it will be necessary to levy a two (2) mill tax which we recommend to be levied on the taxable property of the district the ensuing year

J S GILTNER,
G GLINN,
J C AINSWORTH

After the foregoing report was read Mr Giltner stated that with the acceptance of the report his labors in connection with the public schools of Portland ceased and thanking the meeting for the acceptance of his report he retired from the chair, leaving the meeting without a presiding officer

Mr W S Ladd inquired whether the chairman could thus retire and whether if he was chairman at the beginning of the meeting he was not such till its close Whereupon Mr Giltner resumed the chair, there being no objections made and calls of "take the chair" being heard

Mr W S Ladd inquired if the Clerk's report had been read

The Clerk stated that it had not for the reasons before mentioned

Sundry motions to adjourn to sundry times were made, one to adjourn to Monday evening, April 20th, finally being carried and the meeting adjourned

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Dr Lindsley delivered an interesting and able discourse at the above Church last Sunday evening to a very large and fashionable audience We have prepared the following synopsis of his lecture which was unavoidably crowded out of our issue of yesterday

The art of making men drunk does not comprise one of the lost arts but has been faithfully and carefully preserved from the early days of the Ancients down to the present time And the vile compounds of to day which are dispensed over the counters of gin [illegible] [illegible] to stupefy and [illegible] humanity of all that is worth possessing A glance at the evils arising through this illegitimate traffic so overwhelms our thoughts and feelings that one [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] the staff of life and convert it into [illegible] which [illegible] their exhausting forces upon man's very vitals and then gnaw at the [illegible] until at [illegible] the [illegible] of the wives and orphans but give to what its fiend [illegible] on to deeds more dark and damning [illegible] which it gluts its fearful maw

The manufacturer and seller of intoxicating liquors [illegible] He prevents the legitimate employment of men and heaps untold ruin upon them and their families The weary laborer at the close of the week returns to his home with his hard earned wages which he no doubt intends to disburse for the necessaries of life which his family need But he goes down town meets old [illegible] they drink together [illegible] until all is squandered and the poor besotted man is kicked out into the street soon picked up by some police officer who kindly furnishes him with lodgings and board at the city's expense

Statistics show most conclusively that the average life of manufacturers and venders of spirituous liquors is but ten years, and that with squandered fortunes, ruined characters and outcasts from society they fall into a drunkard's grave and still this infamous traffic [illegible] its sway and claims nearly one million of human beings yearly as food for its insatiable appetite

It produces pauperism it maintains Judges and police forces it fills asylums and penitentiaries demands houses of charity swings your fellow man between Heaven and earth and fills the world with beings unmatched even by Moloch's hellish hosts

All grand juries have condemned the fearful traffic and have charged over to the demon rum three fourths of all the crime committed

Intemperance loves a shining mark The brightest and best men of our land are among its followers They are falling on every side The statesman, the merchant the mechanic, yea it blights with its accursed touch the minister of the gospel and drags him from the sacred desk and with demoniac grin defies the powers of earth and Heaven to check its avalanche of death

Elections are carried and power given unto men through this instrument of death Do you believe that men boosted into positions of honor and trust through means like these can and will fulfill that trust with satisfaction to our people? Impossible! So long as men are led with halters around their necks and called to vacate their manhood and vote for men who ought to be sent to the penitentiary

HOW SHALL WE STOP IT?

Moral suasion does not seem to succeed, yet when I think of those noble women who have bowed their heads in the dust of our streets and before dens and brothels here in our fair city and endured the scoffs and jeers and vulgarities of men that Portland might be washed in the blood of the Lamb and restored to purity, prosperity and power my soul goes out in supplication to the most High that He may hear their prayers

License and liability is also recommended, which in its effect makes the rum seller responsible for damages occasioned by intemperance This plan seems so intricate and evasive that there is doubt of its wholesome results

PROHIBITION

Are we prepared for this grand step? Public sentiment is crying aloud that this evil must be put down We appeal to our municipal authorities we know who our Mayor is, we know the men who constitute our City Council, we appeal to these for measures which may for a time allay this fearful malady which is blighting the young men the aged men, the wives and daughters of our promising city And now that our Mayor and Council may act in this important matter, let every good citizen of Portland come boldly to the front and strengthen and encourage these guardians of our property and our homes, to place this stalking death-dealing demon in straight jacket where it properly belongs and thus place temptation out of the way

I claim not the honor of a prophet neither am I the son of a prophet, yet I venture to predict that a change will soon take place

It is the people who speak to day and not their representatives To day one-half of the power of these United States lies powerless That power is vested in Woman and our nation is bidding her on and with outstretched anxious hand implores the aid she soon may bring and retrieve our land now deluged in ruin

WOMAN ABUSED AND CRUSHED

Oh! give her the ballot that she may crush this pernicious pestilence And now [illegible] if we old men had the wisdom and [illegible] power to carry on this great reform [illegible] at once fall in with wives and sisters and wipe out this dread curse

Poverty of the Blood.

If the blood be thin and watery the whole system is impoverished The flesh is flabby the muscles lack hardness the nerves are relaxed the internal organs but imperfectly perform their functions the brain is inert and in short the entire body is only half alive The stomach is mainly responsible for this wretched condition of the human machine Stimulate and tone that organ with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and a marked change for the better will soon be apparent The result of improving the digestion with this potent and genial tonic will be the conversion of the food into rich pure blood and as the blood is the raw material from which flesh muscle brain, bone and every membrane tissue and ligament of the body are manufactured all those components of the material frame will be gradually regenerated and invigorated This is sound doctrine and it is sustained by the logic of fact.

JUDGE NOT

How do we know what hearts have vilest sin?
How do we know?
Many like sepulchres are foul within
Whose outward garb is spotless as the snow,
And many may be pure we think not so
How near to God the souls of such have been
What mercy secret penitence may win—
How do we know?

How can we tell who sinned more than we
How can we tell?
We think our brother walked guiltily
Judging him in self righteousness Ah well
Perhaps had we been driven through the hell
Of his untold temptations, we might be
Less upright in our daily walk than he—
How can we tell

Dare we condemn the ills that others do
Dare we condemn
Their strength is small their trials not a few
The tide of wrong is difficult to stem
And if to us more clearly than to them
Is given knowledge of the good and true
More do they need our help and pity, too—
Dare we condemn

God help us all and lead us day by day
God help us all!
We can not walk alone the perfect way
Evil allures us, tempts us and we fall
We are but human and our power is small
Not one of us may boast and not a day
Rolls o'er our heads but each hath need to say,
God bless us all?

A WRONGED AND DECEIVED WIFE

THE FOLLY OF WRITING LOVE LETTERS

[From the Missouri Brunswicker

A tired husband went home from his work recently, and taking off his coat, requested his wife to mend a rent in the sleeve, then sank upon the sofa behind the evening paper Wife-like, she took up the coat, woman-like, she dived into the pockets From the inside pocket she drew forth a letter, directed, in delicate chirography, to her husband With darkening brow, she quickly took the suspicious-looking missive from the envelope and, without noticing the date began to read

"Dear George, I am lonely, oh so lonely, since you left me last Thursday night."

"Ah, ha! that was lodge night, he told me," said the now thoroughly interested woman, as she glanced viciously over at her husband, who appeared to be just falling asleep. "Oh, how can you sleep, with the weight of this deep sin upon you? But I'll see what more the brazen huzzy has to say, if it kills me" With one hand pressed to her throbbing heart, she read on

"I know I am foolish, darling, but when you are away there seems to be a barrier between me and all that is bright and lovely The sun does not shine half so bright, the moon is but a white spot in the sky, and the stars stare coldly down, when you are not with me, lord of my life and heart"

"Was it for this? was it for this" moaned the unhappy wife

"Fortune speed the day when we may be united in those indissoluble bonds that are sacred in the eyes of Heaven and earth"

"What mockery! Does he or she consider that his vows made to me are not sacred? What are they going to do with me, any way, I wonder? Poison, perhaps Oh, false, false, perfidious man! Oh, wicked, hellish, designing wanton!" Still the suffering woman read the letter though each word burned to ashes a thousand hopes and joys

"When we need meet no more clandestinely and tremble in each other's embrace—"

"I'd make you tremble, if I had you in my embrace a minute!"

"when my head may be pillowed in safety upon your breast—"

"The fiendess!"

"and your arms twine in loving pressure about me—"

"Furies!"

"and our lips smother the tender words that would escape between them."

"Oh, the sirenic she-devil!" hissed the woman, as she tried to keep down the boiling rage within her. She crushed the letter in her hands, then threw it upon the floor and sprang upon it with her heels, as though it were a snake, and ground it into the carpet Then with clenched hands and compressed lips, she strode rapidly back and forth across the room, ever and anon making a move as if to spring like a fury upon her husband, who, with a paper over his face, was apparently sound asleep, dreaming perhaps, of the wicked temptress that had come between him and his fond wife Presently a reaction took place, and the wretched woman sank into a chair and found relief in that blessed panacea for female ills—a flood of tears

Grown calmer after a while, she picked up the rumpled letter, smoothed out the creases, and with an air of mingled despair and resignation looked for the signature.

"Your ever loving and devoted, but poor, apprehensive

"What's this! Flut—flut—tering birdie A-d-a Ada. Why bless me! this is one of my own old letters to George. What a fool I"

A sound from the sofa, first like escaping steam, and then like a car rattling o'er the stony street, assured her that her ridiculous actions had been witnessed by her husband. Burning with shame, the foolish woman flew to her room, and locked herself in, and she is almost as miserable now as when she felt that she was a wronged and deceived wife

Butler's Bill Relating to Impeached Officers.—Butler of Massachusetts asked leave to report from the Judiciary Committee a bill to prevent maladministration in the civil service by officers against whom impeachment has been presented The bill provides for the suspension of all such officers until their discharge from such impeachment, and the performance of their duties by persons properly appointed, as in a case of vacancy He explained that the bill was intended to cover such cases as that of Judge Durell, of Louisiana, of whom it was alleged that as soon as he could hold a Court long enough to clear up the business of his friends, he will resign

Morey, of Louisiana, objected to the reception of the bill

A Singular Will—A dispatch from Milwaukee, Wis, March 22 says quite a sensation has been created in Oshkosh by the finding of a will of the late W Durand a wealthy citizen of that place The document was found by the workmen while repairing the house It divides the extensive property of Mr. Durand equally between his son, nineteen years old, and Mina Howard, of New York city, his niece, on condition that the son marry the niece before his majority They both declare they will not marry, and will contest the will Mrs Howard, the mother of Mina, was a former sweet-heart of Mr Durand

Wm B Astor's old Residence.—The residence on Lafayette place, New York, from which William B Astor lately moved up town, is in market It is not an ordinary house The basement windows are protected with strong iron bars, the French windows of the parlor have iron doors which slide open and shut, in addition to the blinds, and even the windows of the second story have gratings It must be very pleasant to be a millionaire.

A young man who left Brooklyn three years ago to "go West and grow up," has just been heard from He writes home to his friends, from Idaho, saying that the country is the most beautiful the sun ever shone on, and the inhabitants the most sociable he ever met Also, that he expects to be hanged in about fourteen days for stealing a mule —Times

[illegible] market [illegible] the [illegible] plenty of a general nature [illegible] but murmurs at the dullness of trade are not as unfrequent as would be pleasant The [illegible] having been marketed and the agricultural portion of the people being busy [illegible] their preparations for the current year

The spring trade [illegible] anticipated though by no means without its encouraging features one of which is the promptness with which bills for stock are met by interior merchants and if the volume of trade is not so large, the amount of credit given requiring long time and expense to collect is also in [illegible] correspondingly small There are certainly indications to be seen which justify the assertion that the [illegible] the country was never [illegible] on a sounder basis than at present

The [illegible] the [illegible] system by the bill now before Congress is one of interest to the people at large and merchants especially Under the present law on the subject of the entire penalty or forfeiture one half goes to the Government one quarter to the informer or informers, if any, and the remaining quarter is equally divided between the Collector the Surveyor and Naval Officer of the port while the District Attorney and Clerk of the Court receive percentages on the gross proceeds. The bill now under the consideration of the Committee provides that when an officer of the Customs seizes goods in the act of being smuggled he shall be entitled to one-fifth share of the net proceeds that in case of fines penalties and forfeitures the net proceeds shall first be ascertained by the deduction of all costs of judicial proceedings of collection and of unpaid duties and that of the sum remaining one fifth shall be paid to the credit of the Customs defective fund to be used and expended under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury According to this bill the higher officers of the Customs are debarred from participating directly in the proceeds of fines and forfeitures but their subordinates or private persons are entitled when acting as informers to such compensation as may be just and reasonable not exceeding in any case one fifth of the net proceeds and not exceeding $10 000 in cases where the net proceeds exceed $50 000 The remainder of the bill is devoted to securing prompt and open judicial proceedings for the settlement of all revenue suits in lieu of the present method of secret compromise and adjustment

Paper Money.

Late quotations show the following condition of facts in relation to the paper money of different countries United States 10 to 12 per cent discount Austria 10 per cent discount Greece 12 per cent discount Italy 11 per cent discount Russia 10 per cent discount Hayti [illegible] per cent discount The Republic of Hayti has 500 000 000 piasters or dollars of paper money The rate of exchange is authoritatively established at 300 paper dollars for one coin dollar The value in the market is 2 0 paper dollars for one coin dollar San Domingo 1 to 90 per cent. discount on the new paper money latest issue Credit notes so called an earlier issue are received by the Government at the rate fixed by decree of thirty dollars for one dollar silver—[illegible] per cent discount. Paper money issued by former Governments of San Domingo is valueless. Argentine Republic 90 per cent. discount.

Several of these countries of irredeemable paper currency keep faith strictly with the people—they promise not to redeem their pledges to pay in coin and they keep this promise most sacredly

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—Perfect quiet reigns in the market, and transactions are hardly sufficient to establish prices Quotations are weak at $1 60@1 65 ℔ cental

FLOUR—Market weaker some choice extra selling at $5 75 ℔ bbl common and outside brands of extra, $5 50, superfine $5 fine $4 50

OATS—The dullness of the demand is apparent in the diminished receipts, as there is doubtless yet a considerable surplus in the interior but holders do not care to offer in the present situation of the market. We quote good lots at 45c ℔ bushel

BARLEY—There is, perhaps, no more held in the State than will be necessary to supply the local trade until the new crop comes in The demand is now quiet at $1 40@1 45 ℔ cwt

FEED—The market is well stocked and dull at our last quotations

HAY—The supply is quite adequate to the demand and trade is duller owing to the advance of spring Wild is very dull sale at $8 ℔ ton while good timothy is in moderate request at $12@14

POTATOES—We notice no particular scarcity in the market, though all choice lots offering are freely taken at current rates. Shipments to California are declining We quote best at 60c ℔ bushel with chances for an advance if sorted common lots [illegible] 50c

ONIONS—There is a better supply than last spring and prices are weaker though choice lots are now in excess of the demand We quote choice at $1 75 ℔ 100 lbs common $1 50@1 60

APPLES—But few choice lots are now coming to hand and such sell readily [illegible] dried and neatly packed

BACON—There is no unusual demand and prices remain without important change Hams in extra fine country cured are worth 17@18c ℔ lb, sugar cured 20@22c Sides are in fair supply at 11@12½c, shoulders 9@10c

LARD—Oregon made is very scarce and if clear and sweet will readily sell in tins for 14@15c ℔ lb in kegs 12@13c Eastern is selling at 15@15½c

DRIED FRUIT still comes forward liberally and our former quotations are well sustained, both for apples in sacks and kegs and pitless plums The former is quotable at 5½@6c in kegs 6@6½c plums with pits dull at 6c pitless sell more readily at 1 @14c

BUTTER—We are still compelled to give a wide range to quotations owing to the varied quality of the many lots in the market Large quantities are to be had at almost any price but it is of such as could not be used Choice fresh for table use is worth 30@37½c ℔ lb common lots range all the way from 15 to 25c.

CHEESE—The market is scantily supplied with choice Oregon made for which 20c ℔ lb is freely offered by jobbers Best Cal about the same rate

EGGS—There is a full supply at present and prices are yet weak at 15c ℔ dozen Shipments are falling off and prices may yet go lower

CHICKENS—Receipts are not large and the demand rather exceeds the supply For choice lots of hens, $4 50@5 ℔ dozen could be realized Common or mixed lots are quotable at $4@4 50

BEEF CATTLE—There is much complaint among buyers of poor lots offering and such are marked down to the lowest possible figure For fat young steers the demand is brisk at 7c ℔ lb while many of the lots offering sell for 5@6c because of their inferior condition

MUTTON SHEEP—There are but few arrivals and quotations are nominal at $3@[illegible] ℔ head for fair lots

DRESSED HOGS—The season is over and quotations nominal at 6@7c ℔ lb

TALLOW—Some shipments made to San Francisco have been unprofitable, and the market is duller We quote at 6c ℔ 100 lbs

HIDES—Large receipts and heavy shipments are the rule, and we see the result of the hard winter in this branch of trade Prices for undamaged lots are firm at 5@6c for green [illegible] 14@16c for dry and 11@12c for culls

WOOL—Eastern and California advices indicate some activity in the market but show no important indications as to probable prices Our home market is bare of transactions and quotations nominal at 15@24c ℔ lb for common to best
